The Impact of Volunteering

Expanding Life-giving Ministries

"I had heard about how difficult pro-life work is in the other nations, but until I actually saw it for myself I had no idea how difficult it really is and what wonderful opportunities there are. My visits to Zambia and Brazil really opened my eyes to the reality of what it means to be the only pro-life effort in an entire city or nation! My life goals have changed because of these visits. I want to be part of expanding pro-life work around the world and seeing the gospel spread through this mission field."

*At the end of our life our questions
are simple:*

*Did I live fully?
Did I love well?*

-- Jack Kornfield

Live fully.

Love well.

Be changed.

Being Changed

"My life will be forever changed by the friendships that I have made with both the staff at LIFE International and with my dear Bolivian friends. My heart has longed for mission work for years and much of that is being fulfilled in my work with Centro de Vida."

Building Relationships

"What I love most is that all LIFE partner ministries focus primarily on unashamedly sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ. For me, a benefit of traveling as part of a LIFE team is the opportunity to see first-hand that the Word of God is as is true for those serving in the far corners of the globe as it is for us in pregnancy resource ministry in the United States.

Traveling with LIFE has also allowed me to enter into a special relationship with our international sisters and brothers serving in pregnancy resource ministry. Getting to know them personally, seeing their centers, and experiencing the culture where they serve allows me to better encourage them and lift them up in prayer. What an awesome opportunity to be stretched spiritually and to experience a world that may be a bit outside your comfort zone."
