Kampala, Uganda

- Uganda is the only country to halve the rate of HIV infection, from 25% in 1992 to about 10% today.¹
- Kampala is Uganda's capital and largest city, with a population of 1.3 million people.²
- Abortion is illegal in Uganda except to save a woman's life.³
- An estimated 297,000 abortions are induced every year; this is a rate of 54 abortions per 1,000 women aged 15-49 (the U.S.'s rate is 22.9, ranked 36th), giving Uganda the distinction of the 10th highest abortion rate, with one in five pregnancies that end in abortion.⁴

Dearly Beloved Prayer Partners

Everybody has a story. No matter our background, our culture, our financial position, our goals and dreams—inside each of us is an unwritten and often untold story. Over the last few years here at The Comforter's Center, there have been, and continue to be many stories, many accounts of lives saved and changed forever because of the Power of Jesus and His love for all life including life in the womb.
